

Figure 1: Demonstration of the recovery of rigid (left) respective affine (right) transformations, via recovering localisations of simulated two channel SMLM data; transformation (magenta) from red channel (violet) to blue channel (cyan); for the use cases of translation (top), rigid transformation (middle) and affine transformation (bottom). Obviously a rigid transformation may not correctly reconstruct an affine transformed data set (bottom left).